The following telegram was received last night by The Washington Herald from Andreas Dippel, manager of the Chicago Grand Opera Company.

"It gives me great pleasure to announce that the Chicago Grand Opera Company will give two performances of opera at the Belanco Theater on March 23. The matines will be Verdi's appendid work, fails," and the night performance will be Victor Herbert's American Opera. "Natoma," that has scored such great success in New York, Chicago, and Philadeiphia Both operas will be sung by notable casts, whose personnel I will be able to announce in the next few days. For the two performances regular opera prices will prevail, the seata selling from 25 to 15.

Those taking tickets for both operas will naturally have first choice of loostions. The satire-ballet, chorus, and orchestra of the company will be present, and it is the intention of the management to make the performance the most notable event in the recent missical history of Washington."

RICH ENGLISHMAN JILTED AT ALTAR

Musical Comedy Actress Casts Aside Handsome Grandee and All England Is Talking.

Windsor, England, Feb. 28-Forsaken at the altar by Gabrielle Ray, the most beautiful, charming, and winsoms musical comedy actress in the British Isles, Eric Loder, the handsome young grandson of the immunisely wealthy Bir Edmond Loder, is the most weached grander in all England rought.

Eric Loder, the handsome young grandson of the immensaly wealthy Sir Edmored Loder, is the most wretched grandes in all England to-night.

What was to have been a most brilliant wedding Miss Ray turned into a most tragic jilling, simply by failing to appear to play the role of the bride.

Eric and his attendants arrived early at the Windsor-Roman Catholic Church, gorgeously plumed for the ceremonyMembers of the nobility awarised into the church until the editice was juacked.
The choft took its place in the great loft, and the priest, cled in his westments, waited to pronounce the dashing stage beauty and the heir to a tills and a fortune, man and wife.

Five minutes passed and the inhers plinched their muntaches in vexation. Ten minutes passed, and Eric became uneasy, infreen minutes, and Eric was on the verge of collapse. Fashionable felk and stage celebrities witispered eminously.
Gabrielle had not arrived, nor had she sent any explanatory word. The best man sent a huge limousine whing to he havurious apartment. There it was learned that Miss Ray had dismissed the
